

PlantCatching is the platform of choice for gardeners, that aims at creating a huge communal resource of plants and food to share. By connecting you to other gardeners in your city, it allows you to fulfill so many of your horticultural and urban agricultural needs.

-  Save by finding, in your local area, the seed varieties you don't grow in your vegetable garden yet, the perennials you would like to test in your flower beds, and a lot more.
-  Never throw out a plant or unused seeds again. Share your passion and enable your fellow gardeners to discover new plant varieties.
-  Discover the Incredible Edible containers in your city and the people who maintain them. Stop and chat with these passionate gardeners. Take some fruits, vegetables and herbs, it's all free. Enjoy!
-  Participate in events and activities set up by organizations and professionals. Get to know the gardeners you meet, and continue sharing together.

Spread the word around you!

www.plantcatching.com

 twitter.com/plantcatching

 facebook.com/plantcatching

